EUREKA ITEMS.

We clip from the Sentinel, of Tuesday, the following items:

Sam Friedman, the well known and creek. He was out in all of the stormy weather of the last few days, and according to his experience, matters must be pretty rough between here and the new pretty rough between here and the new El Dorado. He reports that Mrs. Gon-lette, a lady not unknown to fame in these parts, was snow-bound for three days and nights in the valley this side of Thirty-mile Springs. To conclude, Sam. Friedman is not much stuck after Cherry Creek-doem't want any of it in his. Friedman is not much sates after Cherry Creek-docun't want any of it in his. He says matters are very squally over that way, and large numbers of people are returning to Eureka. He evidently had a pretty rough trip of it.

HOUGH WEATHER.-The late storm has been a little the roughest we have ever dence of thirteen years. We have known it to snow deeper, but never more persis-tently. The whirling and waltzing of the blinding particles as they danced up into one's face and then fell back to renew the attack, was something too rough for description. But things begin to look better now; the wind went down last night, the weather moderated in a notice-able degree, and the indications generally seem to warrant the prediction that

THE NARROW GAUGE, -- We understand that the storm has not interfered very materially with the progress of the Pal-icade and Eureka Railroad. Work is progressing as usual, with an increased force. A letter from San Francisco informs us that we need have no fears about the success of the enterprise. The writer says the road is certain to be built. In this connection, we may state that we have beard the names of the well known san Francisco capitalists, Messrs. Hagin & Tevis, mentioned in connection with the new enterprise.

THE TRIAL OF SAMPSON.—The third trial of Sampson, who killed McMahon at Duckwater, is set for hearing at Aus-tin this week. District Attorney Kittrel, of White Pine, and Judge Hupp, of this blace, will, we presume, participate in the proscention. As our readers will remember, this case was transfered from Nye to Lander county, two juries having failed to agree at Belmont.

Surr Down.—Owing to the difficulty in getting ore hauled from the mine, caused by bad weather, the K. K. furnace has been temporarily shut down. A number of miners were also discharged from the Eureka Consolidated yesterday, the dumps being full to overflowing.

ON RUNNERS.—The stage from Hamilton came in last night on runners. The regular coach west on from here to the

A REDEEMABLE CURRENCY,-The term A REDERMARIX CURRENCY,—The term "irredeemable" is not a misnomer when applied either to a greenback or a national bank note. A bank note for tendollars is a promise by some banking association to pay the bearer ten dollars on demand. Let the holder of such a note present it at the counter of the bank issuing it, and what will be get? If the bank happens to be in an obliging frame of mind, he will get a United States note for ten dollars. Is that payment? The laws of the United States says so but that doesn't make itso. Congress might that doesn't make it so. Congress might declare by statute that a frog was a tur-key cock. A greenback note for ten dollars is simply a promise by the United States to pay the bearer ten dollars. Now let the man who has received a sow let the man who has received a greenback from a bank in exchange for a bank note present the greenback at the Treasury of the United States and demand payment, what will he get? Most likely he will get laughed at, and admonshed to be off about his business and not make himself ridiculous. Is that himself? Most scale will have to The pyment? Most people will say no. The steenback is not redeemable, neither is the bank note, which is payable only in greenbacks. When a bank gives a greenback for one of its own notes, it doesn't redeem anything, or pay anything, the law to the contrary notwithstanding. It simply gives the bill-holder a claim against the United States in place of a claim against itself. And when the holder of the contract of the co der of the greenback goes to the treasury and demands that his claim be satisfied, he gets nothing, except possibly another claim that is no better. There is no re-demption in the case. People receive both kind of notes (the one kind as read-ily as the other). ily as the other) in their ordinary trans-actions, not because they are redeemable, but because it is believed they will be redeemable at some indefinite future time.—[Chicago Times.
